Date & Time: May 19th (Saturday), 14:00-15:30

Place : Space D, Mita NN Hall

(4-1-23 Shiba, Minato-ku)

Speaker's Profile:

Mr. J. Nicholas Papatones comes to Tokyo with a unique background. As a trial lawyer specializing in Small Business he excelled in providing breakthrough opportunities and in averting risk for global business. He was the youngest appointee to the White House Conference for Small Business under former President Ronald Reagan.

He has participated in Republican Politics since the age of 17 when he was a specially appointed newscaster for NBC News. As a white House Conference appointee he delivered many presentations across the USA lobbying support for proposals of the Conference.

Here in Japan, Mr. Papatones has spoken in hundreds of business forums throughout Greater Tokyo and published in the distinguished Japan Negotiation Journal and Apple Town, the Business Publication of the largest Hotel Group in Japan (the APA group).

His Company, KK World Without Borders is a leader in cutting edge business training specializing in Negotiation, Contract, Presentation, and Business Facilitation. The vision began when he became the youngest representative of his region to the White House Council for Small Business in the late 1980's in the administration of President Ronald Reagan. Since that time, he has delivered hundreds of speeches on Negotiation, Global Business Trends, U.S./Japan Business and Trade, Sexual Harassment, Power Harassment, Leadership and Cross Cultural issues in both Japan and the USA!

This time, Mr. Papatones is making an interesting presentation, with the title of “Trump, trade, Turmoil, fire and Fury for 2018! Please join us!
